STAR SIGNALS

Sticks and stones
Can break your bone,
But words can never hurt you!

Have you ever heard that poem before? It's one that I learned in the school yard while I was growing up. I used to say it every time some big bully made fun of me, or called me names. It's a nice little poem, and it came in real handy at times.

Unfortunately, it isn't quite true. Words can hurt you. They can hurt you deep inside. They can make you feel bad and lonely.

Sometimes, other kids—well, even adults—can be cruel. They can say things that really hurt your feelings. Sometimes, they went to hurt you. Sometimes, they don't realize what they're doing. Either way, you don't have to listen to them, or believe them. Try to ignore their insults. Try not to take them personally. No one has the right to make you feel bad about yourself.

The next time someone makes fun of you, tell him how much it hurts, and maybe he'll stop. If that doesn't work, find a friend, a parent, or a teacher, and tell them how you feel. Maybe they can make you feel better.

Words can hurt you! Please remember that the next time you start making fun of someone else!

Thanks for being there!
